Plan of teacher engagement in school internship

The teacher is an important link between pupil teachers and schools for their internship. The teacher serves as a liaison between the Schools & School-Based Programs and the cooperating school system. In fulfilling the responsibility of the internship, the intern is directly responsible to the Mentor Teacher. However, the college teacher gives counsel and assistance to strengthen the quality of the experience. The specific responsibilities are to:

- Meet with the intern and Mentor Teacher to discuss the student teaching experience.
- Clarify roles and responsibilities with the Mentor Teacher.
- Assist the mentor in guiding the intern.
- Visit the intern occasionally during internship to have a check on their teaching. Visits should be long enough to:
 - a) Review plans, units, or other written materials.
 - b) Observe at least one complete lesson.
- Confer with mentor and intern to evaluate specifically the strengths and areas in need of improvement.
- Discuss with the intern and mentor any serious difficulties.
- Assist in planning and securing needed materials.
- Assist interns in appraising their professional competencies.
- Issue the final internal assessment in consultation with the Mentor Teacher.
- Urge interns to take an active part in the professional activities of the teaching profession.
- Having a meeting with intern to discuss topics such as:
 - a) School policies, rules, regulations and general procedures
 - b) Responsibilities of intern
 - c) Use of building and facilities
 - d) other areas of interest to the intern or principal
- Introducing the intern to all faculty and staff by including him/her in faculty and PTA meetings, and by providing him/her a place for receiving messages and school announcement.
- Acquainting the intern with the role of school administration as it applies to teachers, students, parents, school board, and community.
